THE USER-X UNIVERSE

Wallpapers, social artwork, ten standalone key visuals and three promotional films — one visual universe, many worlds.

Many worlds.
One signature.

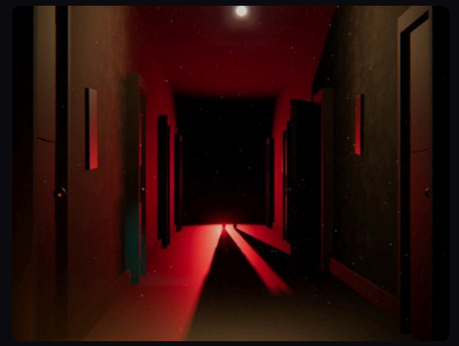

Every piece is built as an original 3D scene and rendered at full resolution. Genres change the camera, the light and the density — the signature never changes: the D-pad X emblem, magenta for the player, cyan for the system, void black for the stage, bone for type.

- Original characters only — faceless, no likenesses
- No franchise logos, costumes or posters
- No gore
- Logo used as an object in-world, not stamped
- Magenta = player · Cyan = system

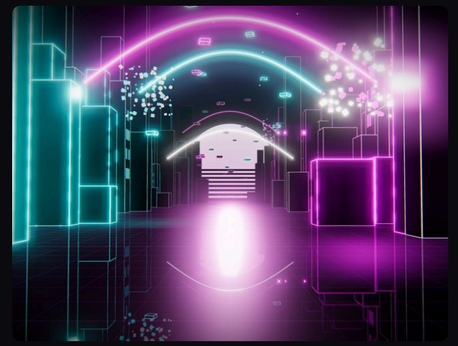

TYPE · Kufam 900 (Latin + Arabic headlines) · Space Mono (labels, captions) · Handjet (in-world signage)
LIGHT · one dominant source per frame, colour accents from brand pair, warm practicals for horror
FINISH · ACES tone map, bloom, film grain, light vignette, slight chromatic edge

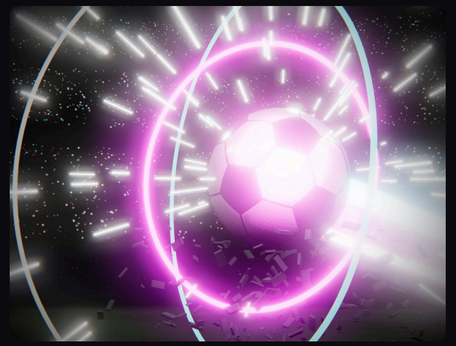

Cinematic
Backlit hero scale, god rays, eclipse light

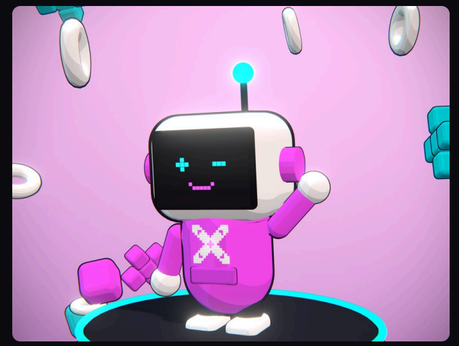

Horror
Low-key, practical light, one red accent

Arcade
Glossy voxels, neon seams, grid floors

Sports
Floodlights, impact, motion trails

Animation
Toon shading, outlines, bright palette

Digital
Megacity depth, emblem spire, haze

Original USER-X colours, unchanged

MAGENTA

INK · deep magenta

The four core values are the client-supplied brand colours, used exactly. Support tones come from the approved D-PAD X identity system. Genre accents (candle amber, crimson #A3121F, stadium white, pastel sky) appear only as light inside scenes, never as brand fills.

The USER

L01 · 3840×2160 · also 2560×1600 and 3440×1440 · Widescreen gate megastructure, spires and sky beams; open dark space left for desktop icons.

Arcade Warfare

L02 · 3840×2160 · also 2560×1600 and 3440×1440 · Two voxel fortresses trade energy fire across a mirrored grid canyon toward a striped horizon gate.

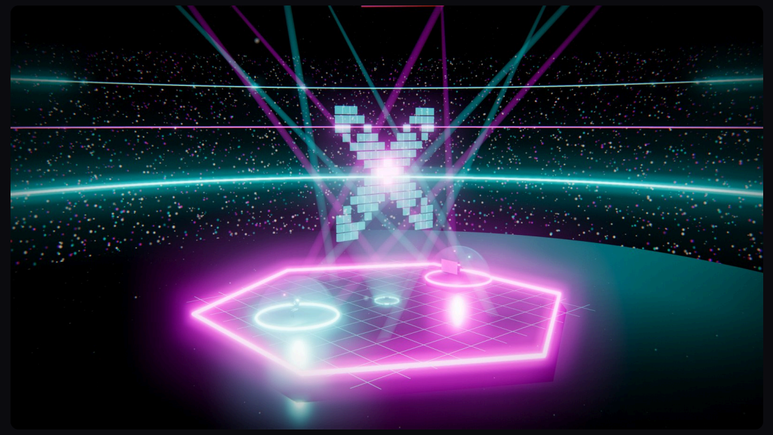

Dark Signal

L03 · 3840×2160 · also 2560×1600 and 3440×1440 · An old CRT on the floor broadcasts static and a faint X; blinds cut light across the wall; a figure in the doorway.

Action Horizon

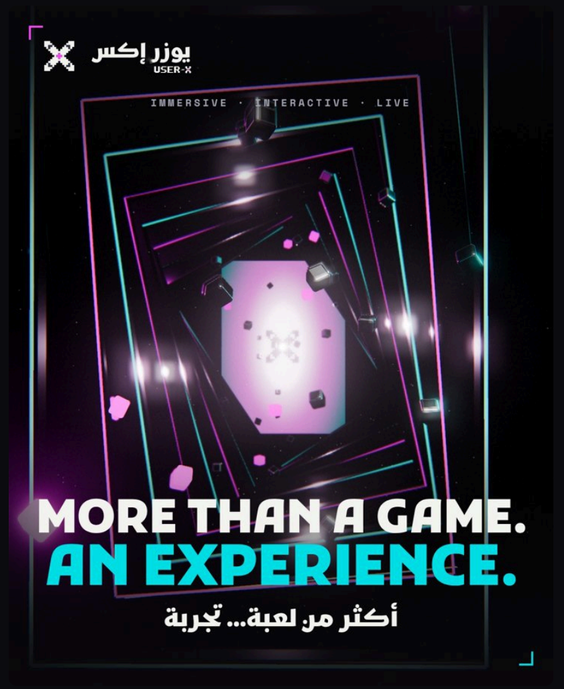

L04 · 3840×2160 · also 2560×1600 and 3440×1440 · A runner leaps the gap between rooftops above a dusk megacity, an energy arc tracing the jump.

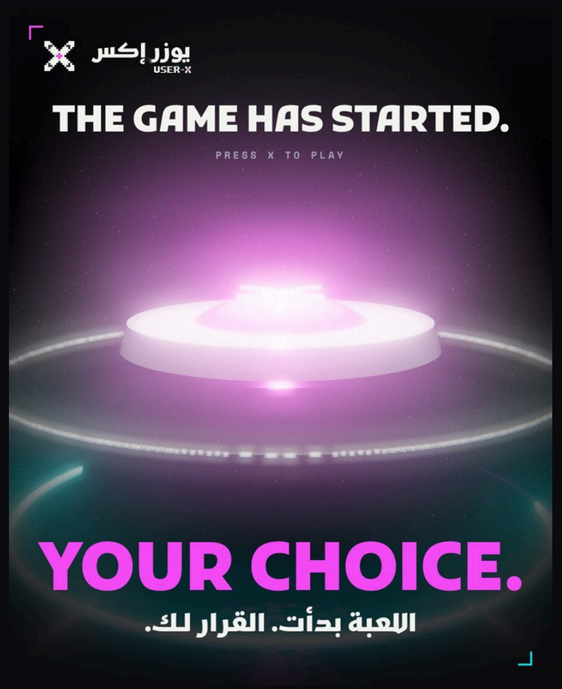

Competitive Arena

L05 · 3840×2160 · also 2560×1600 and 3440×1440 · A futuristic competition bowl: hex stage, two player pods, a holographic emblem and sweeping lasers.

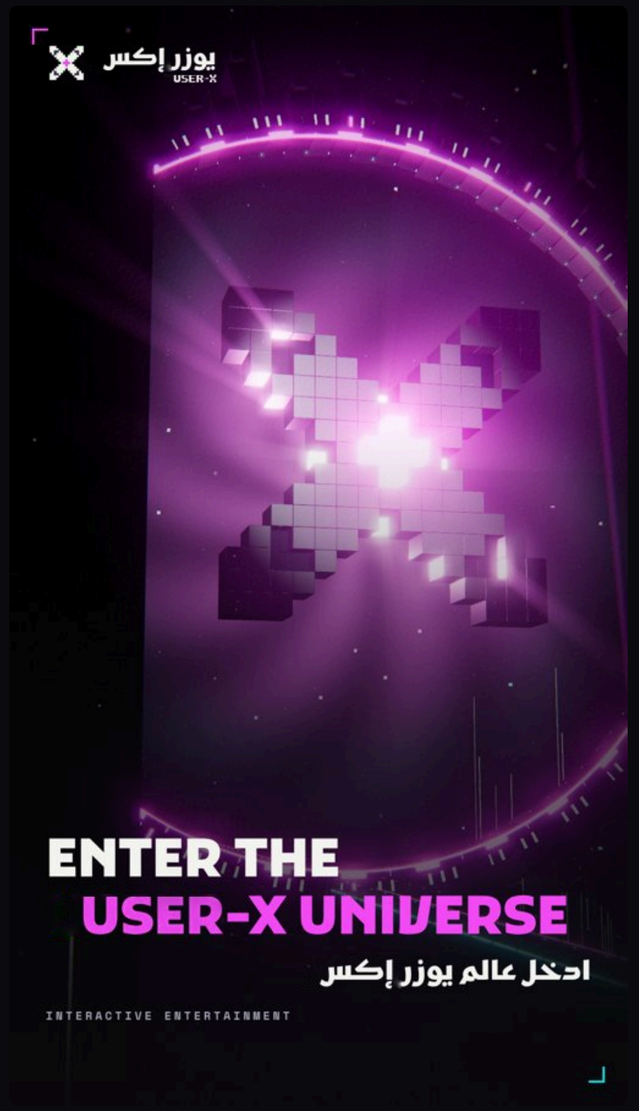

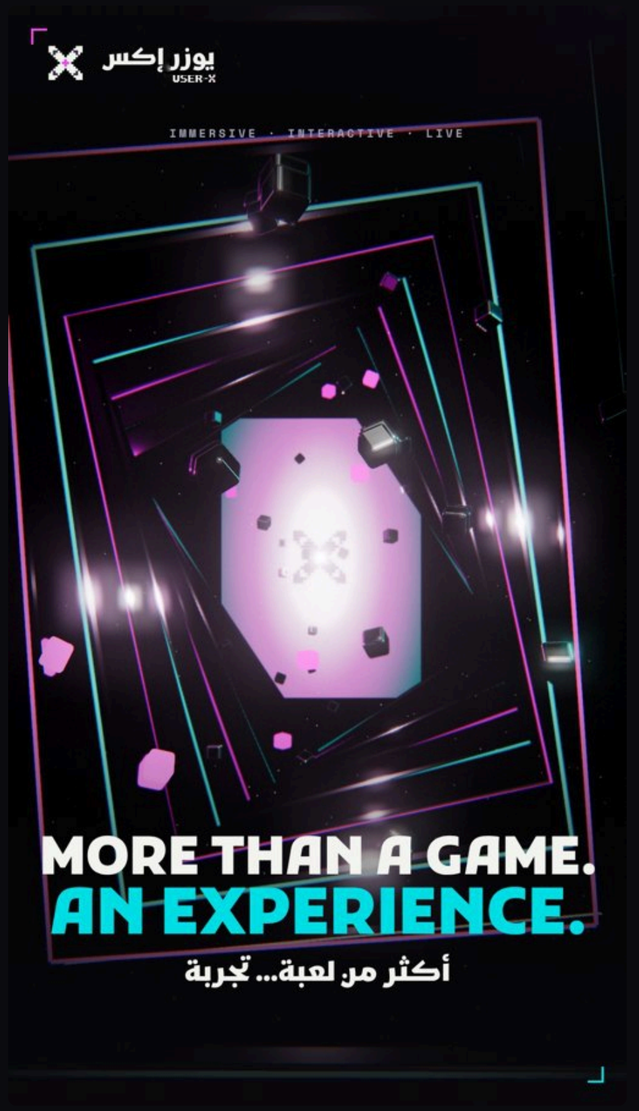

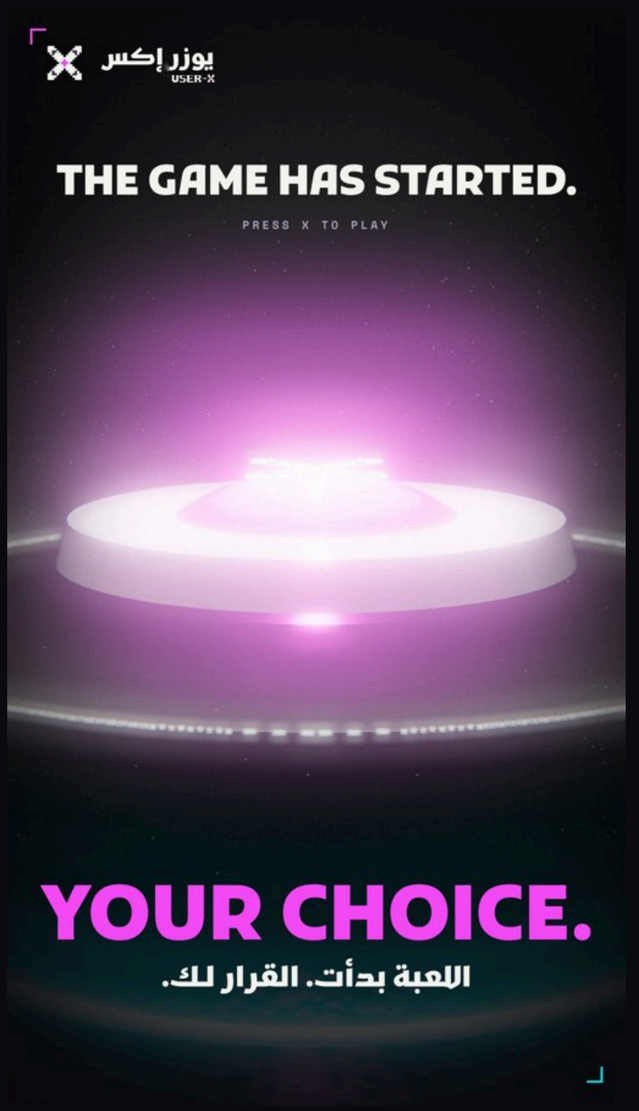

Three feed posts introduce the brand without claims, handles, dates or links. Headlines in Kufam 900 with an Arabic line for the Saudi audience; the horizontal logo sits top-left on every post.

PNG + editable SVG (live text, embedded fonts, vector logo; background is an embedded raster render) + 1080×1920 story versions.

What is in the package

23 static designs

5 mobile · 5 laptop · 3 social · 10 artworks. All rendered as final PNG masters from original 3D scenes.

3 rendered videos

Fully rendered MP4 files — 16:9 masters and 9:16 verticals, each with and without sound, plus thumbnails. Not storyboards.

Source + vector

Scene source code (three.js), compositor and sound scripts; SVG logos and SVG posts; fonts and licences.

Limitations, stated plainly. AI image generation could not be used at full resolution in this production environment, so every image is a procedural real-time 3D render. Characters are stylised and faceless by design; for close-up hero characters at film quality, a 3D character artist can refine PIXO and the hero silhouette on the same art direction. Vertical videos are rendered at 720×1280 and upscaled to 1080×1920 (type and logo composited at full size); 16:9 masters are native. No trademark clearance is implied for any name or mark.
